

Groups

Click on the Groups button to list all the groups that have been defined. Here, you can add, remove and edit groups. Only the groups that were created on the COC Configurator can be managed, but not the groups that were automatically created by user imports. Once the groups have been set up, you can assign them to clients, which then will be visible in the corresponding client. You can also assign users to groups through the COC Client in the group's tab.

A client can have a maximum of 50 groups assigned.

For more details, see Assignments.
