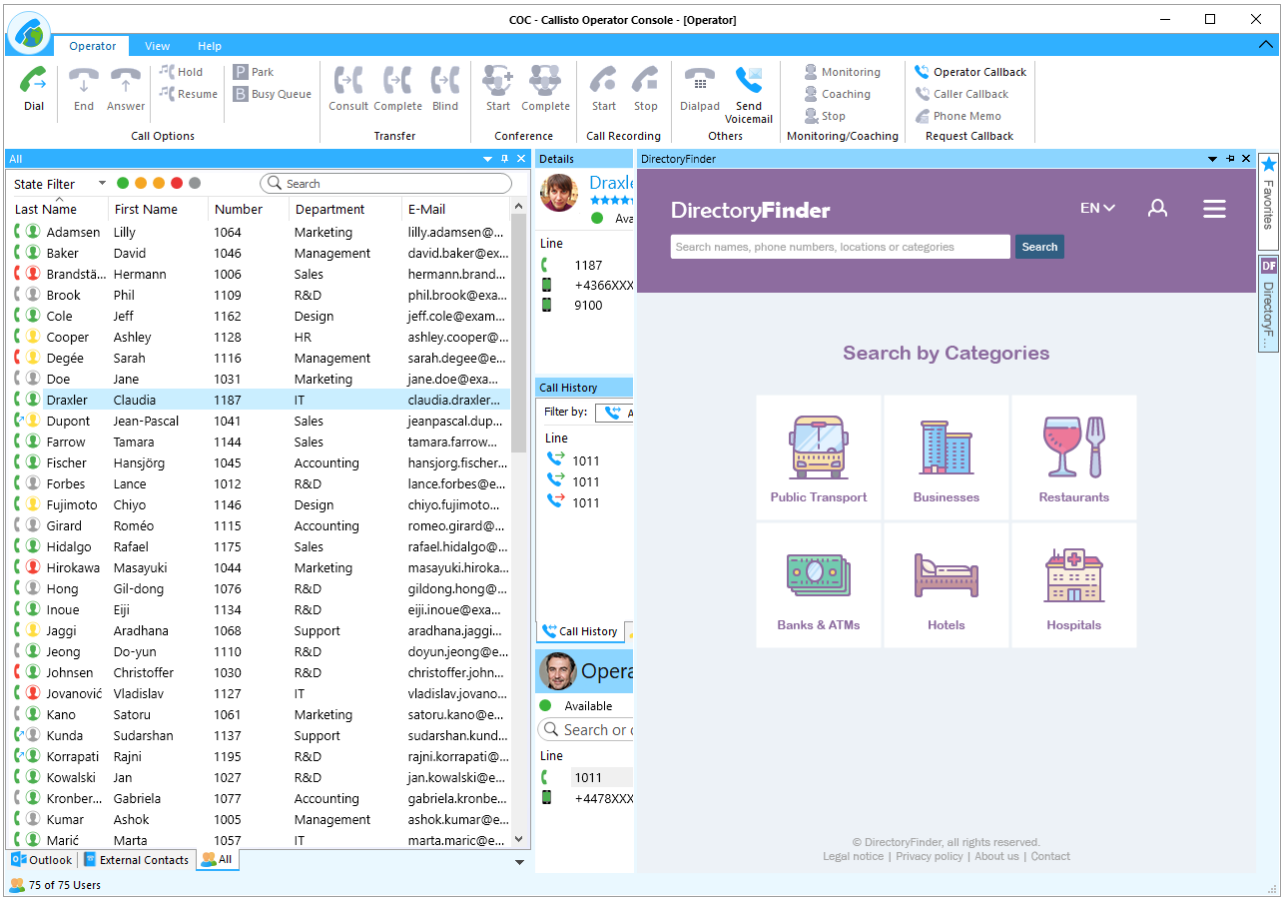
HtmlPanes

The COC client allows to display web pages inside the application with HtmlPanes. Administrators can determine which pages can be displayed using the COC configurator (see COC Configurator manual – Settings and Assignments). Once a web page is defined, you can access it by the tabs at the rightmost side of the COC client's main view.



Example of an external website as HtmlPane in the COC client.

To hide an HtmlPane, click anywhere outside the pane.

Some Callisto modules like ProfACD use HtmlPanes, so their functionalities can be used from within the COC client. Refer to the respective modules' manuals on their HtmlPane integration.
